Ref: Brian Williams

To Whom It May Concern:

Brian is an exciting, creative designer who first came to my attention in my sophomore design class. His is an innovative dynamo that sets the pace for others to follow. I followed his progression through the program and asked him to be my teaching assistant his senior year (this is a job usually reserved for graduate students). Brian is a natural teacher who has the rare ability to get students to explore and question the status quo.

Brian is respected by faculty and peers alike. He was elected to several leadership positions in the AIAS and was always the chief in group projects. I give Brian my highest recommendation without reservations.

Sincerely,
