TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Brian Williams worked for this office as a Senior Designer for approximately five years. He worked on a large variety of projects, all with a strong environmental focus. He is perhaps the most multi-talented architect I have ever employed in forty years of practice and teaching.

He is able to approach each project fresh, listen to clients, develop wonderful freehand sketches. His skills are not limited to conceptual design. He has carried out complex drawings through working drawings with unbelievable focus and dedication to detail. Although knowledgeable of all phases of the architectural process, his main interest is in the “front end” design process.

Buddy has a wide range of interests and they all reinforce his abilities as a designer. We think so highly of him that we will be flying him back here to work with us on selected projects. He is always a delight to work with: even-tempered, humorous, hard working, steady, versatile. Its rare to find someone under forty who knows computers backwards and forwards and can do beautiful hand sketches that reflect a knowledge of construction, environment, technology and materials with a deep commitment to social and environmental responsibility.

Sincerely,

Sim Van der Ryn
